

"Integration of technology into the UN 5 year strategy for mine action". I read partly from my notes, and partly from an UNMAS paper. The part you are missing is on the Strategy. My notes were;

Past UN General Assembly resolutions on mine action have called for the development of a 5 year strategy.

UNMAS will coordinate the process, but it will be a "UN" strategy involving all 11 Departments and Agencies with a mine action responsibility.

It will outline what the UN hopes to achieve over the next five years in the 5 pillars of mine action.

It will contain measurable goals and objectives

The strategy will include technology.

Developing the strategy will not be a long process - 3 months including internal meetings and consultations with stakeholders. To be completed by the fall this year. Mr Bob Eaton has been engaged as the facilitator.
