Ending the suffering and casualties caused by anti-personnel mines
The Eighteenth Meeting of the States Parties (18MSP) is the formal, diplomatic meeting of the 164 States that have accepted to be bound by the Convention on the Prohibition of the Use, Production, Stockpiling and Transfer of Anti-Personnel Mines and on Their Destruction. The Convention covers over 80% of the world’s States including most that at one time used, stockpiled, produced or transferred anti-personnel mines, and are or have been affected by anti-personnel mines. Several States that are not party to the Convention will be attending as Observers. The 18MSP will be presided by Sudan and hosted by Switzerland.

The 18MSP will be the first formal Meeting to review progress made by States Parties in implementing the newly adopted Oslo Action Plan and its 50 Actions. The meeting will also take stock of States Parties’ efforts to meet the Convention’s goals to the fullest extent possible by 2025.

In February, Sudan as President of the Convention hosted the fifth Pledging Conference with the aim of committing resources to the ISU 2020 work plan, the Convention’s Sponsorship Programme and the costs of the Meetings of the States Parties. The Conference was inaugurated by H.E. Omar Gamareldin Ismail, State Minister for Foreign Affairs of Sudan and welcomed H.E. Ms. Omi Asako, Parliamentary Vice-Minister for Foreign Affairs of Japan, among other Ambassadors and Representatives of nearly 30 States.

ACCESS, AWARENESS, AND INCLUSION IN TIMES OF ISOLATION AND ANXIETY: REACHING PEOPLE IMPACTED BY MINES AND THOSE IN HIGH RISK GROUPS
HOST: ICBL-Landmine Monitor
Despite gains in recognition of their rights, the situation of mine-affected communities, and many survivors, has become increasingly challenging with situations of social and economic restrictions, conflict, and now the COVID-19 pandemic. Survivors and persons with disabilities require specifically enhanced support efforts, including where clearance has been completed. The social and the economic impact of the measures to tackle the pandemic can make conflict survivors and persons with disabilities more vulnerable. Communities at risk of mine incidents and those facing mine threats in their livelihood activities need to be reached with appropriate messages. Panelists will discuss inclusive means for identifying these threats and innovative responses to the combined physical, social, and psychological impacts, and isolation.

Sudan signed a peace agreement with the Sudan Revolutionary Front (SRF) and Sudan Liberation Movement (SLM) on 7 September 2020. As the deadline for Sudan to meet its obligations under Article 5 of April 2023 is approaching, it is important to understand the implication of the current peace agreement on Sudan’s work plan to meet its obligations. The event will shed light on the direct impact of the agreement on Sudan’s work plan and the financial requirements required to meet its obligations. The meeting will also be attended by a representative from SPLM-N Hilu whose participation is crucial for Sudan to be fully compliant to the Convention.

THE RECOVERY OF HUMAN REMAINS IN WEAPON CONTAMINATED SETTINGS
HOST: ICRC
This side event will present and discuss new guidelines published by the ICRC on the recovery of human remains in weapon contaminated settings. These guidelines are also the basis of a new IMAS chapter that was submitted to the IMAS Review Board in February 2020. When operating in weapon-contaminated environments, forensic teams are often unaware of the explosive hazards that they might encounter or that may lie nearby. Likewise, mine-clearance and EOD specialists may be unaware of the legal requirements to treat human remains with respect and, as far as possible, to facilitate their recovery and identification. This guide therefore seeks to identify common operational principles and outcomes to foster a more collaborative approach between forensic and EOD teams in weapon-contaminated settings.

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS AND MINE ACTION
Host: Norwegian People’s Aid & Conflict and Environmental Observatory
To meet societal and environmental challenges, mine action must align with the SDGs. GICHD reviewed the links between mine action and the SDGs in 2017, recommending that further mapping was critical to demonstrate relevance across other areas, such as agriculture. We will discuss what still needs to be done, including how to measure mine action outcomes against the SDGs. The session will focus on environmental protection, covering: 1) how to document relevance, 2) what targets can and should be set and monitored, and 3) improving collaboration and making stronger links with development. Speakers from outside mine action will also share experience of the challenges in meeting SDG targets, strengthening collaboration and drive action across organisations.

Mine action does not operate in isolation of global trends and challenges. We must ensure diverse experiences and expertise are engaged when grappling with complex issues that have significant long-term humanitarian and sustainable development impacts. MOVING FORWARD VIA HUMANITARIAN DISARMAMENT
Host: Forum on the Arms Trade, with International Campaign to Ban Landmines and the Permanent Mission of the Republic of Costa Rica
The global pandemic has laid bare the need to define security based on human needs, rather than military might. In recognition, countries have continued to join key humanitarian disarmament efforts on landmines, cluster munitions, nuclear weapons, killer robots, explosive weapons in populated areas, the arms trade and more. But, in too many places, we see a shrinking of civil society space. And the pace of diplomatic progress has slowed. Join us in this virtual side event to discuss the humanitarian disarmament approach, latest developments, and the work ahead.

ALTERNATIVE FINANCE FOR MINE ACTION & DEVELOPMENT
Host: HALO Trust

International cooperation and assistance in mine action is based overwhelmingly on bilateral assistance. This will remain essential to achieving progress towards the Convention’s 2025 goal. But with the Landmine Free 2025 Campaign estimating a $1bn shortfall in global funding for survey and clearance, increased pace of progress will depend as much on increased political will as alternative funding models. This event will bring together experts, including in development finance, to explore how these can be applied to mine action sector.

L’UTILISATION DES MINES ANTIPERSONNEL DE NATURE IMPROVISÉES EN AFRIQUE DE L’OUEST ET AU SAHEL – IMPACTS ET RÉPONSES
Host: United Nations Mine Action Service (UNMAS), Geneva Office

Des groupes armés non étatiques sévissent dans la région en faisant fi des frontières en Afrique de l’Ouest et au Sahel. Ces groupes armés utilisent des engins explosifs improvisés (EEI) qui fonctionnent comme des mines antipersonnel pour cibler les forces de défense et de sécurité, entraînant souvent la mort et la mutilation de civils. Cet événement fournit une plateforme d’échanges sur les défis liés à la sécurité et l’utilisation de mines antipersonnel de nature improvisée. Après un aperçu de la situation sous divers angles et de leurs conséquences, les présentations et discussions permettront de faire la lumière sur certaines réponses face à cette menace, mettant en avant les possibilités d’actions dans la région.

ENABLING BEST PRACTICE THROUGH NATIONAL STANDARDS
Host: United Nations Mine Action Service (UNMAS) & Geneva Centre for Security Policy

Standards are a primary means of capturing, distilling and communicating best practice in mine action. The release of the innovative mineaction.net tool represents a significant step in making it easier to access, understand and demonstrate compliance with IMAS and NMAS. This side event provides an update on initiatives to support affected countries in updating national standards, including thematic approaches on environment and gender, and the national responses in view of action plan objectives. Sector-wide initiatives include ongoing capacity development support for strategic planning, standards development and updating, outreach, compliance and monitoring. Mlnaction.net is an enabling tool for other initiatives within affected countries, including those represented on the panel, offering the potential to accelerate and ease the alignment of NMAS with IMAS, as detailed in the Oslo Action Plan, Action #5 through sustainable, nationally owned action.

Coronel Juan Lopez Demuth, Chile’s National Mine Action Centre Director announced in March that after laborious efforts, members of the Armed Forces had addressed all known minefields within Chile’s national territory having removed the ‘last anti-personnel mines’ in Quebrada Escritos in the Arica and Parinacota region, within the deadline set under the “Ottawa Convention”. During the Intersessional Meetings more details were provided by the Chilean Ministry of Foreign Affairs. A formal Declaration is expected at the 18MSP.

Niger, with the support of the Committee on the Enhancement of Cooperation and Assistance chaired by United Kingdom, and members, Colombia, Germany and Turkey, held and Individualised Approach meeting to highlight to partners and stakeholders its remaining challenges to implement Article 5 obligations. Following on Oslo Action Plan actions, Niger also sought to develop partnerships for faster completion.
The Anti-Personnel Mine Ban Convention is a short reference to the 1997 Convention on the Prohibition of the Use, Stockpiling, Production and Transfer of Anti-Personnel Mines and on Their Destruction, also known as the Ottawa Convention. It is the international community’s comprehensive response to the humanitarian problems caused by anti-personnel mines, indiscriminate weapons that last for decades after conflicts have ended.

The Convention was born from the human tragedy caused by mines in a number of countries throughout the world. In the early 1990s, non-governmental organisations working in war-torn countries brought the suffering and casualties caused by anti-personnel mines to the world’s attention.

After several regional conferences and a worldwide campaign to bring awareness and support for a comprehensive humanitarian ban on landmines, the Convention was adopted in Oslo, Norway on 18 September 1997. It opened for signature in Ottawa on 3 and 4 December 1997, at a ceremony that featured the participation of dozens of world leaders, and entered into force on 1 March 1999.

For their determination in calling for the Convention, the International Campaign to Ban Landmines and its co-ordinator Jody Williams were awarded the 1997 Nobel Peace Prize.

At the Fourth Review Conference in 2019, the States Parties adopted the Oslo Declaration on a Mine-Free World, committing to intensify efforts to promote universal adherence and observance of the Convention’s norms, destroy stockpiled anti-personnel mines, address mined areas, assist mine victims and expressed their aspiration to meet their goals to the fullest extent possible by 2025. At the same Conference, States Parties further adopted the Oslo Action Plan 2020 – 2024 to guide their efforts.

Presidency of the Convention

In 2020, the Convention has been presided by H.E. Osman Abufatima Adam Mohammed, Deputy Permanent Representative of Sudan to the United Nations in Geneva.

Sudan sees the Convention as being more than clearing mined areas but about committing to protect and ensure that landmine survivors are able to exercise their human rights and participate in society on an equal basis with others in their community. In spite of the difficulties faced with the global pandemic, Sudan recognises the resilience of the mine action community in making progress in the implementation of all aspects of the Oslo Action Plan.

Throughout 2020, the Convention President encouraged mine-affected and all other States to actively engage in partnerships to accelerate meeting the Convention’s aims. Sudan also worked to promote the Convention among States not party.
What is the purpose of the Convention?

The purpose of the Convention is “to put an end to the suffering and casualties caused by anti-personnel mines” through the pursuit of four core aims:

- universal acceptance of a ban on anti-personnel mines;
- destruction of stockpiled anti-personnel mines;
- clearance of mined areas; and,
- assistance to mine victims.

How many countries have joined?

164 States have ratified or have acceded to the Convention. They include:

- most of the States that at one time used, stockpiled, produced or transferred anti-personnel mines;
- the vast majority of States that are or have been affected by anti-personnel mines;
- every State in the Americas, except Cuba and the United States;
- every State in Sub-Saharan Africa;
- every Member State of the European Union; and,
- the majority of ASEAN Member States.

There are 33 States not party to the Convention, including one signatory State*:

3-4 December
Twenty-fourth anniversary of the signing of the Convention

\(^6\)Subject to 18MSP approval.
\(^7\)Ibid.
Left: Canada, as Chair of the Committee on Article 5 Implementation, addressed the Meeting of Experts of the High Contracting Parties to the Amended Protocol II of the Convention on Certain Conventional Weapons (CCW), highlighting, “Victim-activated IEDs that can incapacitate, injure or kill one or more persons, even if they are meant to target a vehicle, do fall under the scope of the AP Mine Ban Convention. It does not matter whether they are home-made or industrially manufactured.” The Chair also reiterated the importance of addressing anti-personnel mines of an improvised nature within the framework of the Convention.

To commemorate the Convention’s entering into force, Sudan, as Convention President appealed to all members of the Conference on Disarmament that have not yet done so, to join the Convention.

We take this opportunity to bid farewell to former 16MSP President and Ambassador of Austria H.E. Thomas Hajnoczi who has now retired as international civil servant. The world owes him a debt of gratitude for his indefatigable work to ban anti-personnel mines. Known among ban pioneers as the “father of the Convention text”, the Ambassador worked shoulder to shoulder with other like-minded diplomats and civil society campaigners to bring about the Convention as we know it today. His work continued as he lent his voice to further disarmament campaigns representing Austria. Wir sind sehr dankbar!
At the 18MSP, Sudan paid tribute to the late Minister of Defence of Sudan H.E. Lt. Gen Gamal al-Din Omar, who participated in the Oslo Review Conference and courageously led early peace-making efforts in Sudan. He died during negotiations. His efforts were not futile, as the peace deal was signed and one day prior to the 18MSP, peace makers were celebrated in Khartoum.
